Liberals Behind New McCarthyism Calling Opponents of Memo Dupes or Double Spys

There is a memo out in the news which members of the Republican majority on the House Intelligence Committee say seems to show that both the FBI and DOJ misused the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978 (FISA) court to get a warrant to spy on members of the Trump campaign back during the 2016 election. Remember when Trump said the government was spying on him inside Trump Tower and liberal Democrats and the Fake News Media both said Trump didn't know what he was talking about? Now, it does seem he might have been more right than wrong.

I believe the American people have a right to know what the government was doing and when it was doing it. We are a democratic republic; we are not a third world republic. Our government shouldn't be spying on candidates running for office, especially the presidency. Both the FBI and the DOJ, along with Democrats on the Intelligence Committee in Congress were opposed to making the memo public.

What about the people's right to know? I remember back in the '70s, when the liberals in Congress and the news media stated that the people had a right to know. Today, not so much I guess.

I remember when the NY Times published the Pentagon Papers on Page 1 when I was a 23-year-old college student. Back 45 years ago the media was doing its job, being a guardian of the people and not the government. We have turned that premise upside down.

Bottom line, did the DOJ and FBI officials misuse the FISA court for political purposes? Did President Obama play a role in this alleged misuse and was Hillary Clinton's campaign a part of it all?

2018 City Scholarship Applications Available To Boston Residents

Mayor Martin J. Walsh recently announced applications are now available for the 2018 City of Boston Scholarships. The City of Boston Scholarship program is designed to support higher education, and is available to Boston residents interested in pursuing an undergraduate degree or continuing education in Massachusetts.

"The City of Boston Scholarship Fund helps turn our residents' dreams of completing their post-secondary education into reality," said Mayor Walsh. "Giving our residents a helping hand in pursuing their degree is a wonderful investment in Boston's future. I look forward to receiving many applications from talented students throughout Boston's neighborhoods, and providing scholarships to our new class of Boston scholars."

The City of Boston Scholarship fund is a need-based scholarship that provides up to $10,000 over four years towards tuition, and relies primarily on generous contributions from individuals; organizations and corporations to further the goal of having more Boston residents complete a post-secondary education.

During the 2017-2018 academic year, the scholarship program awarded a total of $275,000 to over 100 students representing almost every neighborhood of Boston, over 25 local high schools and 30 local colleges and universities.

This year, the Scholarship Committee worked to simplify and strengthen the application process. Highlights include a new recommendation form that assesses college and career readiness, three short-answer questions in place of a longer essay, an Expected Family Contribution (EFC) calculator for students not eligible for FAFSA, and a clear recognition of financial need among continuing education students.

The City of Boston Scholarship program is part of Mayor Walsh's commitment to ensuring access to higher education is available for all in Boston. In 2016, Mayor Walsh launched tuition-free community college for Boston Public Schools graduates, providing a cost-effective entry point into higher education for Boston's young people. Participating colleges include Bunker Hill Community College, MassBay Community College, and Roxbury Community College.

The City of Boston offers many other resources for residents pursuing higher education. On the Mayor's Education Cabinet's Higher Education Resource page, residents can now find the resources most appropriate for their educational goals in one place, including the Tuition-Free Community College program, The Boston Bridge and an inventory of local scholarships.

"The cost of college tuition has increased by 45 percent in the last decade — a price rising faster than nearly any other good or service in America," said Boston Chief of Education Turahn Dorsey. "Over the coming year, the Mayor's Education Cabinet and the City's Scholarship Committee will work with local students, educators, higher education officials, and college access experts to identify ways to ensure that all Boston students find an affordable way to access, and complete, a post-secondary education."

Candidates for City of Boston scholarships must be Boston residents who have graduated from high school or have completed G.E.D. programming by the time the awards are made. Additionally, candidates must be planning to attend, or currently attending, a two- or four-year accredited post-secondary institution in Massachusetts.

Residents who meet these eligibility requirements are encouraged to apply at www.boston.gov/education/city-boston-scholarship-fund. The deadline to submit applications for incoming freshmen is April 13, 2018 at 5:00 p.m. For applicants who are renewing their scholarship from a previous year, please email COBScholarship@boston.gov.

AURELIAN YARD SALE

During his civic administration, Marcus instituted many reforms. Most noteworthy are those which required names and registration of all free-born children, rewriting laws dealing with money-lenders and public sales, investing more judicial power in the Senate, and setting a statute of limitations in investigations concerning the deceased. He enhanced the prestige of the Senate by granting them the power to settle civil disputes, appointed only men of high caliber and integrity to the Senate, and always attended

Senate meetings whenever he was in Rome. He extended court calendars to a maximum of 230 court-days, appointed special judges in charge of the property of wards, and appointed guardians for all youths without parental guidance. He even caused the city streets and highways to be maintained with the greatest care. Marcus Aurelius Antoninus treated the Roman people on a par with those of a free state. He always endeavored to treat men reasonably, restraining them from evil and urging them to do good. He was generous in his rewards and always was eager to forgive. It was said that his nature helped to make bad men good, and good men better. Once again the tranquility of the State was disturbed by the Marcomannic war (Germanic border tribes). They originally occupied the territory between the Elbe and Oder Rivers. A pact was signed with Tiberius in 6 A.D. but in later years they began to invade Roman territory, and were attacked by Domitian. Hostilities ceased during the reigns of Trajan and Hadrian but flared up again under Marcus and Verus. It was during the pursuit of this war that Lucius Verus died from a stroke while riding in a carriage with Marcus.

After the death of Lucius Verus, Marcus Aurelius Antoninus now became the sole ruler of the empire and his conduct became even more noble and virtuous than in the past. He showed more concern for those in the provinces, and waged a successful war against the Germanic tribes. The cost of prosecuting this war in Germany was very high and it drained his treasury; but even then he could not bear the thought of imposing new taxes. He chose to gain new revenue by holding a public sale in Trajan's Forum, the likes of which will never be seen again. The sale lasted for two months and included gold goblets, flagons, crystals, paintings, gold-embroidered clothing, and every kind of jewelry imaginable. Later, at the conclusion of the war, he even permitted buyers to return their items for a full refund.

President Trump Proclaims February “African American History Month”

This February, we celebrate National African American History Month to honor the significant contributions African Americans have made to our great Nation — contributions that stand as a testament to their resolve, resilience, and courage. Over the course of our Nation's history, African Americans have endured egregious discrimination and bigotry. They have, nevertheless, always been determined to contribute their earnest efforts to America's greatness. This annual observance is an opportunity to remember the challenges of our past, but also to honor countless African-American heroes who inspire us to shape our country's future. This year's theme, “African Americans in Times of War,” calls our attention to the heroic contributions of African Americans during our Nation's military conflicts, from the Revolutionary War to present-day operations.

Throughout our history, members of the Armed Forces have fought to secure freedom and liberty for all, defending our country both on our shores and in foreign lands. African Americans have shouldered an enormous share of the burden of battle in every American military engagement, donning our Nation's military uniforms to answer the call of duty. For far too long, African Americans bravely fought and died in the name of freedom, while at the same time struggling to attain equality, respect, and the full privileges of citizenship. Because of their love of country, these heroes insisted on serving and defending America despite racial prejudice, unequal treatment, diminished opportunities, and segregation. Their valorous acts in the face of grave injustice revealed the true meaning of American patriotism — service before self.

It was not until 1948 that President Harry S. Truman ordered desegregation of the military, providing “equality of treatment and opportunity for all persons in the Armed Forces without regard to race, color, religion, or national origin.” It took another five years before the Secretary of Defense abolished the last segregated African-American military unit. These hard-won victories for justice catalyzed other victories, as they cast a harsh light on aspects of our social and civic lives that remained segregated. Those who fought against and ended segregation in the military reminded the Nation of its obligation to the self-evident truth of equality written into the Declaration of Independence.

We remember soldiers like Sergeant Henry Johnson of the Harlem Hellfighters, the all-black National Guard unit that was among the first American forces to arrive in France during World War I. Johnson suffered 21 wounds during front-line combat and received France's highest award for valor. To acknowledge his exceeding bravery, he was posthumously awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and a Purple Heart. We remember pilot Benjamin O. Davis, Jr. who commanded the famed Tuskegee Airmen and became the first African American General in the United States Air Force. We remember soldiers like Major Charity Adams Earley, who was commander of the only all-African American Women's Army Corps unit that served overseas during World War II. She was a trailblazer in her efforts to recruit more women to military service in spite of rampant racism and segregation.

These and countless other African Americans triumphed over ignorance, oppression, and injustice to make indelible contributions, not only to our military history, but even more importantly to our American history. They are an integral part of our Nation's story. We are indebted to the individual and collective perseverance and patriotism of these outstanding men and women, as we are to all African Americans who have served, and continue to serve in the Armed Forces of this great Nation.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Non-Citizens Can't Vote in Elections, Period! End of Story

by Sal Giarratani

We have all heard that the Boston City Council is mulling the idea of holding a public hearing on allowing non-citizens the right to vote in city elections. What is wrong with us! Only citizens vote in elections. Yes non-citizens live among us, and like many of us pay taxes, too.

However, while a country is made up of its residents, a government is made up of its citizens. This is true whether on a state, local, or national level. Citizens and only citizens constitute the government in America. Our elected officials that we elect, represents our interests.

When America was born, it was the first time in human history that the people were the rulers and that those at the top worked for us. Allowing non-citizens (legal or illegal) to vote would distort the very definition of what constitutes a government.

While the government is here to serve all the people, only citizens get to elect our voices in government structures. When elected officials can't even figure this out, we know we might be electing the wrong people as our voices.

We should be encouraging all of our non-citizen residents to become citizens, but we can't just make them almost citizens. Either you are a citizen or not.

In this country, non-citizens may be forced to pay taxes, but legal non-citizen immigrants are also allowed to seek government entitlements. Not many countries around the world go that far.

Voting is a sacred right and privilege and to play around with it by letting non-citizens vote in our elections would demean our right to vote and make the consent of the people a reality in the daily running of our government on all levels.

The Right to Vote belongs to citizens. Period! End of Story. To do otherwise is to misconstrue what the Revolutionary War was fought over.

Donna Lee Umana Newcomb
of Swampscott

A Nationally Known Authority on Non-Profit Fundraising

Donna Lee Umana Newcomb of Swampscott, a nationally known authority on non-profit fundraising, passed away on January 14th, of complications from cancer. She was 72. She was the wife of the late John "Jack" E. Newcomb.

A Boston native, Donna was born and raised in the Orient Heights section of East Boston. She was the daughter of the late Guy and Yolanda (Vitale) Umana, who owned and operated a family bakery in East Boston. She was the niece of the late Hon. Mario Umana, a municipal court judge and veteran state legislator.

Her formative years in a tight-knit Italian neighborhood were influenced by politics and community involvement. Her father was a political activist and, in later years, became a columnist for several local newspapers. Some of her earliest memories were of leafleting in Maverick Square and asking voters to cast their ballots for "Uncle Mario."

Music was also a strong influence in her young life. Her mother, a graduate of the New England Conservatory, taught piano. In later years, Donna was very close to her uncle, the late Bill Vitale, a well-known jazz saxophonist. Bill toured the country with Woody Herman in the 1940s and played with big band organizations in New York and Miami into the mid-1990s.

A graduate and active alumna of Girls' Latin School, Donna received a BA degree in psychology from UMass, Amherst. She began her development career at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital of Medford where she served in increasingly responsible positions for more than 28 years. During her tenure, she led the hospital through two successful capital campaigns and established a nationally recognized, comprehensive, development program that served as a model for other non-profit community hospitals across the country. Donna was also responsible for the creation of the Office of Corporate Philanthropy for Hallmark Health, the merged entity of Lawrence Memorial and three other community hospitals.

Following her many years of fundraising in the health care realm, she joined Suffolk University as a senior director for development and major gifts. There she mobilized a trustee committee to complete a capital campaign for the School of Law. Donna also designed and managed a first-ever capital campaign for the College of Arts and Sciences.

Taking on the challenge of fundraising and development in a new arena, Donna accepted a similar position at the Peabody Essex Museum in Salem. During her tenure, she revitalized fund raising efforts by repositioning the leadership annual giving program, resulting in record-breaking numbers in dollars raised and donors participating.

Late in her career, Donna returned to health care philanthropy at the Lahey Clinic Medical Center in Burlington, where she served as director of campaign planning. While there, she structured the Clinic's first formal patient referral program and established the first donor recognition program for physicians and colleagues.

While pursuing her career in philanthropy, Donna also took the time to be involved in a new endeavor, joining her late husband Jack in opening La Prima Donna in 1994, an award winning, gourmet Italian food shop and catering service in Swampscott. Working weekends, she helped Jack pursue his second career and shared his passion for fine cuisine. Prior to moving into the role chef/entrepreneur, Jack was an associate director at MIT's Center for Advanced Engineering Study. He also traveled the world as a lecturer and consultant on the principles of quality management.

During her long and productive career, Donna was an active participant in many professional organizations including the New England Association for Health Care Philanthropy, where she was past president; the National Society of Fund Raising Executives (NSFRE), where she served as a New England chapter board member; and Women in Development. She also served as chair of the Association of Philanthropy for Fund Raising at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. Donna was recognized as a Fellow by the Association for Health Care Philanthropy, the highest, most prestigious, peer designation. She also received professional certification from the National Society of Fund Raising Executives.

Donna is survived by her partner and best friend Harvey Pastan of Marblehead. Donna and Harvey enjoyed boating, reading, going to the movies, spending time together in Nantucket and Florida and they were patrons of the Boston Symphony and the Beacon Hill Seminars. Also surviving are her sister Anne of Swampscott, and brother Mario of Lynnfield, as well as nephews Stephen, Michael, Christopher, and niece Valerie Amenta. She also leaves many close friends and colleagues who will miss her loyal friendship, lively curiosity and generous spirit.

Arrangements were private in the care of Vertuccio & Smith, Home for Funerals of Revere. Memorial gifts may be made to WBUR Radio, 890 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, MA 02215 and/or to the William Vitale Scholarship Fund, Berklee College of Music, 1140 Boylston St., Boston, MA 02215. Children's Winter Fest

Returns to Boston Common February 21st

Mayor Martin J. Walsh and the Boston Parks and Recreation Department will be bringing the annual Children's Winter Festival to Boston Common in partnership with the Highland Street Foundation during school vacation week on Wednesday, February 21st, from 10:00 am to 3:00 pm.

"The Children's Winter Festival on Boston Common is a well-loved tradition in Boston, and we are pleased to bring it back again in 2018," said Mayor Walsh. "We invite all children and families to come on down to the festival for a day filled with fun activities."

Among the attractions, will be the 45-foot-long Toboggan Tunnel mountainous adventure with twin roller lanes, the 30-foot-high inflatable Everest Climb N Slide, and the Snow Mazing maze. In addition, the Highland Street Foundation is sponsoring a weeklong Winter Camp at the Boston Common Frog Pond with free skating and rentals for all ages from Monday, February 19th, through Friday, February 23rd. For more information on the Winter Camp skating, please visit www.hillandstreet.org.

The festival will also feature a DJ from Magic 106.7, an appearance by the L.L.Bean Bootmobile with their popular Boot Toss game, giveaways from "DreamWorks Animation Trolls: The Beat Goes On!" now airing on Netflix, and refreshments from Sparkling Ice beverages and Power Crunch protein energy bars. In addition, the Appalachian Mountain Club's Outdoors Rx program will present activities including scavenger hunts and nature walks.

Additional support is being provided by the Floating Hospital for Children at Tufts Medical Center and Cricket Wireless. # L'Anno Bello: A Year in Italian Folklore

Carnivals and Cupids: A Welcome to Spring

by Ally Di Censo Symynkywicz

When winter snow blankets the ground like an overstuffed duvet, it is hard to believe that spring is on its way. However, the signs of the approaching season unexpectedly fill the corners and nooks of our world, waiting like unwrapped presents for those who search for them. Bathing suits and T-shirts and pastel summer skirts wink at me from the store aisles. The sun remains for a longer time in the sky, spreading its golden light from between the trees in my backyard. And of course, you cannot step into a shop without seeing walls of red and pink hearts for Valentine's Day. Indeed, I like to call this upcoming week an introduction to spring due to the presence of two spring holidays within its days. Mardi Gras, the great feast of abandon that signals the end of the Carnival season, occurs on Tuesday, February 13th, with Valentine's Day quickly following on the 14th. Collectively, these holidays celebrate the beginning of spring by emphasizing the love and brightness that will carry us through the cold winter evenings into the days of bright sunshine. The ancient folklore and customs associated with these feasts, from Italy and around the world, honor the unique celebrations that define these holidays while also placing them in the more general category of welcoming spring.

Mardi Gras is a holiday which has always excited me for the upcoming spring. Literally translated as "Fat Tuesday," Mardi Gras serves as the last day for riotous feasting and overindulgence before the austere period of Lent begins the next morning, Ash Wednesday. I remember childhood Mardi Gras parties held at my local church, where we would wear beads and masks in the traditional New Orleans colors of purple, green and yellow, and play a number of crazy games — the sillier, the better! In truth, Mardi Gras is simply the last day which culminates the whole period of Carnival, the raucous preparation for Lent that begins on the Epiphany. In Italy, this period is known as Carnevale, which some scholars speculate derives from the Latin words "carne vale"; that is, "farewell to meat," since it was customarily a forbidden food during Lent. The foremost Italian proverb for this season states that: "A Carnevale, ogni scherzo vale," or that every joke is fair game during Carnival! Carnevale in Italy is known for its gleeful abandon and its age-old celebrations that vary from city to city. In Venice, Carnevale is classy and mysterious, with participants floating gracefully in famous masks depicting characters from the olden style of Italian theater known as commedia dell'arte. The people of Viareggio in Tuscany hold a parade with floats poking fun at politicians and celebrities, a throwback to the times when dissent was only permitted through the veil of jest. In the city of Ivrea, Carnevale is celebrated with a huge orange fight that mimics an event in the town's history! My grandmother grew up in the countryside of southern Italy and remembers quaint Carnevale festivities where disguised neighbors would travel from house to house entertaining the residents with songs and jokes. She would also bake cenci — deep-fried ribbons of dough also known by appropriately whimsical names such as bugie (lies) and chiacchiere (gossip)! Carnival feasts may have started as spring festivals to chase away the darkness of winter. Indeed, a traditional Mardi Gras food, the pancake, honors the sun with its golden color and round shape. That is why this holiday holds such a special place in my heart. It reminds me that fun and laughter is effective enough to melt even the most stubborn of winters!

St. Valentine's Day is another one of my favorite spring holidays, because it is a chance to indulge in chocolate and whimsical decorations of bright red hearts and pudgy Cupids. I always eschew fanciness on St. Valentine's Day, instead preferring to focus on homey touches that create a cozy and sweet holiday atmosphere. I bake my red velvet cupcakes, replete with a scrumptious cream cheese frosting, for this day, and decorate my door with a wooden heart wreath. I not only celebrate with my husband, but make sure to pass along Valentine's Day greetings to my family and friends as well. For Valentine's Day is a holiday honoring love in all its shivering, splendid forms — by only limiting the celebrations to romantic love, we miss out on such activities as homemade cards to your parents or sharing conversation hearts with your best friend. In addition to commemorating all angles of love, St. Valentine's Day also functions as a herald of spring. All the flowers prominent throughout the festival, from scarlet roses to delicate white snowdrops, remind us of the vegetation that blooms throughout the Earth as spring approaches. In fact, Valentine's Day may have its origins in the ancient Roman feast of Lupercalia, a festival of purification and fertility celebrated on February 15th. The other origin of St. Valentine's Day also stems from Italy — Saint Valentine, or San Valentino in Italian, performed secret weddings after the Roman army forbade its soldiers to marry, thus cementing his reputation as a romantic. Other Valentine's Day folklore further emphasizes the connection with spring. A famous superstition advised unmarried girls to look for the first winged creature seen upon waking, as it offered a clue to the profession of her future spouse — a bat meant that she would marry a baseball player, while a robin heralded a sailor. According to medieval calendars, birds began choosing their mates on February 14th, a harbinger of the rebirth of the natural world to come!

This week, we have two great opportunities to welcome spring with joy, love and open hearts. We can chase away the winter blues on Mardi Gras, letting an eternal spring bloom inside us as we lift our spirits with laughter and a zest for living. Meanwhile, on St. Valentine's Day, we can give thanks for the love which has sustained us throughout the dark winter, while staying optimistic about the arrival of spring as we glance at the flowers and hearts and birds that surround us. There are many small ways to honor these holidays, whether it is taking a bite of King Cake on Mardi Gras or exchanging a card with a loved one on St. Valentine's Day. What matters the most is that we stay attuned to the wider message of the holidays, that of accepting both the literal and metaphorical spring inside us, and welcoming each new, brighter day with unlimited hope, love, optimism, and, of course, laughter.

THINKING OUT LOUD

by Sal Giarratani

When it Comes to Politics, I Like Radio Better

I listen to lots of political talk on the radio dial. I listened to rather than watched the recent State of the Union address because I want to hear the words and not get distracted by cameras that scan the House Chamber.

Radio is filled with lots of talkers, like Jeff Kuhner, who likes to nickname his Democratic foes like "Chuck U. Schumer" or "Adam Schiff-Hole." He's part newsmen, part entertainer, and part stand-up guy. He gets carried away with his own opinions from time to time! Then there's Sean Hannity, on both the radio and The FOX News TV Channel. Almost as bad on the right as Rachel Maddow is on MSNBC! Sounds too much like a Trump cheerleader rather than a serious journalist. Then there's the "GREAT ONE" Mark Levin hiding somewhere in a non-descript building down in the bunker. Most of the time he's talking and every once in a great while, he takes callers and sometimes insults them, too.

Through it all I actually learned a thing or two, but lately found a real good conservative talk radio host named Buck Sexton. The Buck stops here every weekday evening on 1430 AM starting at 6:00 pm. He's a different kind of host. Actually, he is the best informative host amongst a large bunch of pro-Trump ghosts. He's objective, informative, and has a sense of humor, too!

Lots of people who voted for Trump listen to talk radio because most of TV is, or seems to be, part of the Resistance and Fake News Media. While most polls have Trump down in low polling numbers, his base is still quite strong and liberals hate that.

I once spent an entire evening going back and forth trying to see what I'm missing on CNN and MSNBC. It was so horrible because they mostly spoke of a world or nation I actually don't know.

All you get to hear is Trump, Trump, Trump, then Russia, Russia, Russia, than racist, racist, and racist! Everything points to collusion. The Russians stole the election and the FBI and DOJ are all a bunch of great American patriots. Ask them about Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act of 1978 (FISA), and they all go "never heard of that."

Nancy Pelosi keeps trying to convince herself that the Trump Tax Reform just passed is so bad for average working Americans despite the larger take home amounts in their paychecks. The stock market keeps rising and the economy is booming, but Joe Kennedy III cries about how bad things are for the ordinary American today.

All the Fake News in the world can't get the Democrats to take back the House and Senate. People may have been born at night, but it wasn't last night. Trump may be his own worst enemy, but not even he can screw all this up.

The Democrats still don't understand what happened in 2016. Like Hillary Clinton, it must have been the Russians, Martians, or somebody else's fault. After all, the Democrats are so smart, but maybe too smart for themselves.

Maybe someday the liberal wing currently in control of the Democratic Party will figure out why they keep losing and why voters are wary of them. I remain a registered Democrat but I vote on principle and recently Democrats seem to have no principles. Whatever happened to the party of Bobby Kennedy I do not know. Today, it stands for little more than whatever sells in public. Mostly nothing of theirs is selling too well.

Trump won because the Democrats have lost their way and are sinking into yesterday's quicksand. Pardon me, going back to my radio now, Buck Sexton is back, and Levin is getting ready to exit the bunker soon.

Diane Modica & Justin Rounds

Participate in

New Members Art Show at Atlantic Works

by Sal Giarratani

A painting by Diane Modica, Desert Oasis will be featured at the show along with Justin Rounds' work.

East Boston's Diane Modica is a former Boston city councilor and a pretty busy lawyer, but she is also now getting recognized as a talented artist. From February 3rd-24th, she will join up with another East Boston Artist Group member Justin Rounds to present a new members show at Atlantic Works Gallery on Border Street. The opening session was this past Saturday.

Modica's show is called POINT OF VIEW, while Rounds, a trans-media artist, musician, and educator will hoist NEW WORKS. Modica calls her work both abstract and representational whether its water color, oil, acrylic, collages, and textile.

Check it out. For more information, go to www.altanrtic-works.org or on Facebook.

ALL THAT ZAZZ

by Mary N. DiZazzo

Pushing through the February Blahs ...

Ciao Bella,
I'm just so tired of wearing a winter coat, socks, gloves, boots, etc.! The heat and the elements drying out my skin, and the itchiness is quite annoying as well.
So I've decided it's a Spa at Home Day. I just purchased some wonderful extra moisturizing body wash and a pistachio scented body cream, also extra moisturizing. The pistachio scent is amazing! Lift your spirits with a great smelling product and lots of emollients.
Treat yourself to these 2 Spa at Home treatments:

Heavenly Facial Mask
1 egg yolk
1 tbsp yogurt
1 tbsp honey
Apply at room temperature to face and neck, rinse after 15 minutes with warm water. Your skin should feel as soft as a baby's bottom!

Soothing Hands Mask
Warm in microwave for 10 seconds
1 tbsp honey
1/2 cup coconut oil
Soak your hands for 5 minutes. Rinse, and then apply an emollient rich hand cream. The honey and the coconut oil are anti-inflammatories helping the skin's outer layer to heal and protect itself.

Get pampered! Start using those gift cards you received for Christmas and get a Winter soothing Pedicure. Many salons are doing specials this time of year. Look into it.
It will be Valentine's Day soon and the world will be full of hearts and love ... get into it and enjoy the colorful experience of red! Polish your nails red to brighten up your mood.
So my Glamazons ... keep on Glamping!
Buona Giornata and God Bless the USA!

Saint José María Robles Hurtado

by Bennett Molinari and Richard Molinari

José was born to the devoutly Catholic family of Antonio Robles and Petronilla Hurtado in Mascota, Jalisco, Mexico. He entered the seminary at Guadalajara at the age of twelve and was ordained to the priesthood in 1913, at the age of 25. In 1918, Father Hurtado founded what is today known as the Sisters of the Sacred Heart of Jesus to oversee pastoral healthcare and education while assisting orphanages and conducting missions.

Contrary to the Mexican authorities of his time, he taught and wrote a number of works to propagate the Catholic faith. While serving as the pastor at a parish in Tecolotlán, he began to promote greater devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus through his preaching, his personal examples and his great devotion to the Eucharist. His fervency was so pronounced that he became known as the "Madman of the Sacred Heart." He was known to work tirelessly for the care of the sick in his parish, and often spent several hours hearing the confessions of his parishioners. He also worked for greater reverence to Our Lady of Guadalupe.

At the time in Mexico, under President Plutarco Elias Calles, the anti-clerical articles of 1917, which prohibited any public processions or other devotional practices were enforced. Father Hurtado organized a ceremony for the laying of a cornerstone for a huge cross atop of a hill in central Mexico, symbolizing the country's recognition of Christ its King. With some forty thousand people estimated to have attended the ceremony, the spot is known to this day as the Mountain of Christ the King.

After this open display of defiance, the government decided to intensify its persecution of Catholics in Mexico and to ensure that Father Hurtado in particular would not engage in further activities of this nature.

Refusing to leave Mexico in spite of the intense persecutions against the clergy, he was arrested on June 25, 1927, for presiding at Mass in private homes. Found guilty, he was sentenced to death by hanging. Upon arriving at the place of execution, forgiving the men for what they were about to do, he took the noose into his own hands, exclaiming: "Don't dirty your hands" to the one who brought it to him, and kissing it, put it around his own neck.

Father Hurtado became one of several priests martyred in what became known as the Cristero War, a widespread struggle in many central-western Mexican states against the secularist, anti-Catholic and anti-clerical policies of the Mexican government at that time. Father Hurtado was canonized on May 21, 2000 by Pope John Paul II. The Feast of Saint José María Robles Hurtado is celebrated on June 26th.

THEATRE NOTES

BY BOBBY FRANKLIN

The Lyric Stage Presents
Virginia Woolf's ORLANDO
 February 23rd through March 25th

Virginia Woolf's Orlando adapted for the stage by Sarah Ruhl and directed by A. Nora Long will open at the Lyric Stage, Copley Square, Boston on February 23rd and run through March 25th.

In this joyful romance of gender roles and expectations, Orlando the man wakes up, after a particularly wild night in 17th century Constantinople, to find himself a woman. She abandons herself to three centuries of navigating love, desire, and the world from an entirely different perspective. Often described as the most charming love letter in literature — written by Woolf to Vita Sackville-West — Sarah Ruhl brings the novel to life on stage in a grand, epic adventure that transcends time, place, and gender.

The cast features Caroline Lawton as Orlando, and includes Elise Arsenault, Michael Hisamoto, Rory Lambert-Wright, Jeff Marcus, and Hayley Spivey.

CITATION GIVING NOTICE OF PETITION FOR APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN FOR INCAPACITATED PERSON PURSUANT TO G.L. c. 190B, §5-304

In the Matter of
 AMANDA V. LEWIS
 of Watertown, MA
 RESPONDENT

Alleged Incapacitated Person

To the named Respondent and all other interested persons, a petition has been filed by Linda M. Lewis of Watertown, MA in the above captioned matter alleging that Amanda V. Lewis is in need of a Guardian and requesting that Linda M. Lewis of Watertown, MA (or some other suitable person) be appointed as Guardian to serve Without Surety on the bond.

The petition asks the court to determine that the Respondent is incapacitated, that the appointment of a Guardian is necessary, and that the proposed Guardian is appropriate. The petition is on file with this court and may contain a request for certain specific authority.

You have the right to object to this proceeding. If you wish to do so, you or your attorney must file a written appearance at this court on or before 10:00 a.m. on the return date of February 20, 2018. This day is NOT a hearing date, but a deadline date by which you have to file the written appearance if you object to the petition. If you fail to file the written appearance by the return date, action may be taken in this matter without further notice to you. In addition to filing the written appearance, you or your attorney must file a written affidavit stating the specific facts and grounds of your objection within 30 days after the return date.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The outcome of this proceeding may limit or completely take away the above-named person's right to make decisions about personal affairs or financial affairs or both. The above-named person has the right to ask for a lawyer. Anyone may make this request on behalf of the above-named person. If the above-named person cannot afford a lawyer, one may be appointed at State expense.

Mrs. Murphy . . . As I See It

Hello folks! It was a sad day for the Patriots and their fans after they lost to the Eagles in a stunning 41-33 victory. Say no more! ... President Trump's State of the Union Address last week was awesome. While most people in the auditorium applauded and stood up for the President multiple times many Democrats remained sour-faced glued to their seats! Those looking sick were Bernie Sanders, Nancy Pelosi, Liz Warren, and Ed Markey to name a few who sat stone-faced! Democrat Rep. Joseph Kennedy III gave a speech after Trump's State of the Union. I believe the Democrats are prepping him for president. My thoughts are the Kennedy's are washed up! ... Nancy Pelosi, the woman plugged in to hate the President, recently made another one of her ignorant statements. She said, and I quote, "President Trump wants to make "America all White!" How ridiculous was that statement? Pelosi is invited to visit Massachusetts and the cities of Worcester, Lawrence, Haverhill, Lowell, Greater Boston, East Boston, West and South Ends, Revere, Everett, Chelsea, Saugus, Lynn, Medford, Roxbury, Brighton, and Randolph just to name a few areas where diversity REIGNS SUPREME! I don't know if this staunch, sour faced aging woman is in touch with reality and the country! ... The MS-13 gangs are popping up everywhere posing a threat. The gangs are growing in numbers! ... Jeffries Point residents are in their rights to be in an uproar if seaplanes are a part of the planning of Amazon at Suffolk. Who needs added planes buzzing around? There's always a downside to every upside! ...

Everyone wants to get on the marijuana bandwagon including ex-politicians! ... Have you ever given any thought to everything we do or own is regulated by the government. The food our children are allowed to eat in public school, the seat belt we're forced to wear, and public conversations must be politically correct, just to point out a few ... Did you know Massachusetts was ranked the Healthiest State in America this past December by America's Health Rankings ... What's happening in three East Boston school cafeterias! The new "Hub and Spoke" project thrives in three chosen East Boston schools: Bradley Elementary, East Boston Early Education Center, and Patrick J. Kennedy School. These three fortunate schools are where young school-aged children are able to get a hot or cold lunch at noon time, either from a hot station with fresh vegetables, fresh cut meats or pastas, or hit the cold bar and explore a selection of grains, beans and greens with dressing or sauce. It's a program started by Jill Shah whose husband, Niraj Shah founded the e-commerce site Wayfair. The project which started last May is an experiment aimed at bringing prepared meals to schools, and if successful may expand to other schools. Each lunch costs the city $3.41 or less ... Talk is Boston is on a short list for a second Amazon headquarters building at Suffolk Downs. However, there are 20 other cities in the final running making it a long list wouldn't you say! ... Great news for those looking to create a new website business! Contact Roger Piffer at Muffintown.com. His designs are impressive and sure to bring in business! ... Happy Valentine's Day! ... Till Next Time!

Pirandello Lyceum's AUTHOR'S NIGHT

As part of our ongoing effort to provide interesting cultural events to members and friends of the Pirandello Lyceum, we will be presenting Author Anthony M. Amore at its annual Author's Night. He will speak on the infamous art thefts from Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum on Monday, February 12th, beginning at 6:00 pm, at the East Boston Public Library, 365 Bremen Street, East Boston, MA.

In the early hours of March 18, 1990, guards at the Isabella Gardner Museum in Boston admitted two men posing as police officers. Once inside, the men tied up the guards and over the next hour, stole 13 works of art (including a Vermeer, 3 Rembrandts and 5 Degas) valued at $ 500 million — the largest art heist and the largest-value theft of private property in history. To date, no arrests have been made and no works have been recovered.

Mr. Anthony Amore is a security expert, investigator, and best-selling author. His book, Stealing Rembrandts, is a spellbound journey into the high-stakes world of art theft. In it, Amore reveals the actors behind the major Rembrandt heists in the last century.

This free event, which is open to the public, is provided by the Pirandello Lyceum. Refreshments: Caffè e Biscotti. Any questions should be directed to the event Chairperson Maria Capogreco at 617-567-1233.

The Pirandello Lyceum promotes a greater understanding and appreciation of Italian culture among all people.

ZAPPA/MOTHERS: THE ROXY PERFORMANCES
(7-CD)

Zappa Records+UME
Forty-three years ago, December 1973, Frank Zappa played a series of legendary concerts at the famed Roxy Theatre on the Sunset Strip in Hollywood. Considered a high-water mark of his career, owing to the incredible, virtuosic performances of himself and his stellar band The Mothers, with five shows, across three nights. A few days later, Zappa brought his band and camera crew to Ike Turner’s Bolic Sound in Inglewood for a filmed recording session, and in typical Zappa fashion, he recorded it all. This definitive seven-CD boxed set collects all four public shows from December 9-10, 1973, and the December 8th film shoot, presented in their entirety for the first time, along with bonus content featuring rarities from a rehearsal, unreleased tracks and highlights from the Bolic Studios recording session. Nearly eight hours of the Roxy shows as they happened and also includes brand new 2016 mixes by Craig Parker Adams from new 96K 24-Bit transfers of the multi-track masters. The set is rounded out with a 48-page booklet that includes photos from the performances, with liner notes by Vaultmeister Joe Travers.

FIRST AID KIT - RUINS
Columbia Records

First Aid Kit has sisters Klara and Johanna Soderberg delivering their 10-track gem titled Ruins. The slow dance video Fireworks is one of the many highlights, as it flashes back to the ’80s, where the duo attends a high school prom that ends abruptly and mysteriously. Their recent sold out concert at Boston’s House of Blues was just one of many on their current tour that ends next week in New York before they perform at Coachella in California. Their music messages include, “Rebel Heart,” the upbeat “It’s a Shame,” the country sound of “Postcard,” adding a bit of folk via “To Live a Life,” and mark the mid-point with the tasty “My Wild Sweet Love.” The heavenly “Distant Star” starts the second half, followed by the positivity of the title track “Ruins,” the sadness of “Hem of Her Dress,” and end with “Nothing Has to Be True.”

THE LONG ROAD HOME
Varèse-Sarabande

Jeff Beal’s music adds to the excitement, suspense and is the base for The Long Road Home. An Iraq War miniseries of eight parts presented on television’s National Geographic Channel, and is based on correspondent Martha Raddatz’s 2007 best-selling book of the same name. Beal dug deep into his creative juices providing the music for this film about real people, some who gave their lives after being ambushed. Beal explained, “This is a really intense piece of filmmaking. That is what I love about being an artist. You want to feel something. The themes in The Long Road Home are about brotherhood, community, and loyalty ... things we all should celebrate. We need them now, more than ever.” Beal’s music reflects realistically the emotion of saving or losing lives in a war, as it surrounds the drama and the pain as the group is pinned down in Sadr City, in an ambush that produced changes to their lives and families.

24 HOURS TO LIVE
Varèse-Sarabande

Tyler Bates penned the music for John Wick movies and Guardians of the Galaxy, and is also responsible for the music on 24 Hours to Live. For those unfamiliar with Bates, he is lead guitarist of the band Marilyn Manson. Bates included the traditional hymn “God’s Gonna Cut You Down,” performed by Marilyn Mason for the film track. The film is a thriller starring Ethan Hawke. Music-wise it is a roller coaster of music and emotions, from pounding, driving songs, to lengthy cuts to fill the action. Ride the coaster with the fast-paced opener “Africa Driving,” then enjoy the quietness of “Mission Explained” for five-plus minutes, the haunting “You Have 24 Hours,” the thrill of “Car Chase,” the explosive “Crashing and Killing,” and the revenge sound of “He Killed Your Wife.”

Elektra (Vinyl)

Released October 15th, 2002, Waiting for My Rocket to Come by Jason Mraz, it is now celebrating its 15th anniversary, and first-time-ever vinyl release. Accompanying the vinyl release is the first installment of a behind-the-scenes documentary video series, Rocket Revisited, by Peter Harding. Mraz and producer John Alagia talk about the album’s genesis amidst never-before-seen footage from the original sessions. Mraz’s 2002 debut of this album propelled the young artist to the forefront of contemporary American singer-songwriters, sparked by a trio of indelible hit singles in “You and I Both,” “Curbside Prophet,” and the number one favorite “The Remedy (I Won’t Worry).” With the latter single shooting Mraz to the top 15 on Billboard’s “Hot 100,” while also reaching the top of the “Top 40 Adult Recurrents” chart.

OWEN BRODER - HERITAGE (THE AMERICAN ROOTS PROJECT)
ArtistShare

Saxophonist/Composer Owen Broder serves up an exciting new vision of American folk, bluegrass, spirituals, and blues through a modern jazz lens. That mouthful of a description boils down to nine unique and interesting interpretations that finish with a jazz flavor. The eight-piece ensemble opens with Broder’s folk/swing feel of “Goin’ Up Home,” trailed by Miho Hazama’s “Wherever the Road Leads” and her arrangement of “I’m Not Afraid to Die,” Bill Holman’s rendition of Hank Williams’ “Jambalaya.” Additional cuts of note have, “Wayfaring Stranger” with Kate McGarry and Wendy Gilles vocals, “Brodeo” is bluegrass flavored, while “The People Could Fly” smacks of South Africa, and Broder’s finale “A Wiser Man Than Me” has a gospel tinge to it!

LOOK WHAT THEY’VE DONE TO THAT CHURCH

Recently, I read a real estate piece in the Boston Herald on the luxury condos at the Trinity Church on Shawmut Avenue in Boston’s South End.

Now it is being call hot property, it is going for a cool $2 million. This place is luxury with a capital “L,” built inside the former church with massive glass and steel inside the old Gothic-style building that was once the spiritual home to German Catholics

PUT THESE DATES ON YOUR CALENDAR

I’ve been down to the South Shore Music Circus in Cohasset off Route 3A many times. It is a great venue. Well, come July 7th, the Little River Band will be on stage. Then on July 28th, both the Temptations and The Four Tops. For more information, go to www.themusiccircus.org.

IDENTITY POLITICS
IN THE 7th DISTRICT

Recently, 10-term U.S. Congressman Michael Capuano found out he will have a primary challenger in the name of Boston City Councilor Ayanna Pressley in the September primary election. This district includes Somerville, Chelsea, Everett, Randolph, half of Cambridge, one-third of Milton, East Boston, Charlestown, Allston, Back Bay, Brighton, Chinatown/Leather District, Dorchester, Fenway/Kenmore, Hyde Park, Jamaica Plain, Mattapan, Mission Hill, Roxbury and the South End.

However, after 10 terms, I think it is time for a new face, new voice and new perspective. I will be supporting Pressley in this year’s congressional race.

MANHATTAN COMES TO NORTH STATION

Everywhere you look in Boston, it’s getting Manhattanized. Look at the South Boston Seaport. Look at the East Boston waterfront. Look at the Haymarket area. Now, look at what is happening to the North Station area. Latest news is a 44-story, 469 unit apartment building near North Station slated to begin construction this summer. It will be built on the Garden Garage site on Lomasney Way. Lots of West Enders living nearby are opposed to it but it is coming despite their objections.

Developers keep building high-end, high rise condos or apartments and say there is enough demand to fill every building here already or on the drawing board.

LOTS OF POLS MARCH IN ST. PATTY’S DAY PARADE

They have set the dates for the upcoming special State Senate race to replace former State Senator Linda Dorcea-Forry. The primary will be held on April 3rd, and the special election is May 1st.

It looks like State Rep. Evandre Carvalho of Dorchester might run for the vacant seat, as well as State Rep. Nick Collins of South Boston who narrowly lost to Dorcea-Forry five years ago. State Rep. Russell Holmes is also giving the idea of a run serious consideration, too. Others may also join the fray.

The Senate district consists of the City of Boston, ward 1, precinct 15, ward 6, ward 7, ward 13, precincts 3, and 5 to 10, inclusive, ward 14, precincts 2, 4, 5, and 12 to 14, inclusive, ward 15, ward 16, ward 17, ward 18, precincts 1 to 6, inclusive, 13, 15, and 21, all in the county of Suffolk. Collins who has run this race before looks like the favorite. He did well the last time.

You can bet there will be few politicians boycotting this year’s South Boston St. Patrick’s Day Parade with this state senate race as well as the race for Congress in the 7th district.

Nanna & Babbononno

by John Christoforo

A Nostalgic Remembrance

By the time I entered college, I became aware of the fact that many of my fellow students couldn't handle being on their own. I grew up with a sense of responsibility, independence, and a work ethic, all thanks to Dad, Babbononno, and Uncle Nick. On weekends, many of my college chums headed for parties, mainly to get blotto. Most of the parties were for the college-age crowd and included both boys and girls who all seemed to do one thing, drink. Much of what they drank was beer, but there were bottles of hard stuff brought to the get together, also.

It took me a while to understand the psyche of my contemporaries and I discovered their rationale thanks to the invite of a friend, originally from East Boston, band leader Frank Zarba. Frank was a senior when I was a freshman at Boston State (now U. Mass. Boston). He and his band were playing a Valentine's Day college party at the George Wright Golf Course in Hyde Park that Friday night. Frank picked me up and we headed to Hyde Park. As we approached the club house, Frank warned me about some of the party goers, "Be careful, lots of the crowd tonight will get drunk and many of them will want to fight."

I wasn't naïve by any means, but thought it strange as to why people my age would drink to get drunk, possibly get sick, and then suffer the after effects of too much alcohol.

Later when Frank and his band were playing, I struck up a conversation with a young lady who might have been a senior at some college. She was a few years older than I, and like me, was sipping a drink in a fashion we might call in moderation. In that conversation, I mentioned my observations which included people staggering around almost to the point of falling down. My drinking companion smiled and asked, "Is liquor taboo in your house?" I answered that it wasn't. I added the comment that, growing up, I was told that I could sample anything I wanted as long as it was in the house, and I mentioned that when we ate dinner, there was always wine and sometimes beer on the dinner table and I was allowed a youthful portion.

The young lady nodded and said, "You must be Italian." Smiling, I said, "Yes ma'm, all the way." She responded with, "Most of these kids are from cultures where liquor is taboo and are prevented from ever touching it. When they get out on their own, they don't know how to handle it, and as you can see, many can't.

At midnight, this college mixer came to an end and when I was helping Frank to load up his car, fights were everywhere in the parking lot. And too, people were staggering all over the place, some throwing up and others falling down too drunk to walk. As we were weaving our way out of the parking lot, a knock on the passenger's side window stopped us. It was the young lady I had been conversing with part of the evening. Opening the window I said, "Oh hi, I thought you had left." She responded with, "No, but I thought you did. Anyway, here is my phone number in case you would like to meet for coffee this coming week. I attend Radcliffe and can meet you anywhere in Harvard Square." I accepted her phone number, and she kissed me on the cheek and walked off. Frank assured me that most of the drunks would strike out that night, but I seemed to have done alright for myself, mainly because I knew how to handle my liquor. He then added that I was only seventeen and my Radcliffe friend was probably twenty or twenty-one. He ended with, "Not bad ... she's probably from society and you're a kid from East Boston."

That was on a Friday night, and that following Sunday at the dinner table, I mentioned to Dad, Uncle Nick, and Babbononno what I observed at that college party. Babbononno asked where the key was for the liquor cabinet. My answer was, "What key?" He came back with, "The wine is in the ice box, the beer is in the refrigerator, and the hard stuff is in the bottom of the china cabinet. No one ever stopped you from sampling and booze is not a taboo for you." Dad and Uncle Nick both said roughly the same thing, adding that in some cultures, liquor is locked up so the kids can't get at it, and when the kids go out on their own, many don't know how to handle things.

Frank graduated that next June. I began playing professionally during my sophomore year and put a band together, a quartet that included Tony Poto on piano, his cousin Rocky Freni on drums, and the late Doug Godfrey on alto sax. I teamed up with two college students my age who wanted to run weekend parties, and for the next three years, we ran college mixers several times a month. Both were the sons of Boston politicians and we had no trouble obtaining twenty-four licenses, purchasing beer and liquor, nor booking space somewhere for our events. Neither of my partners drank any more than I did, so these events were business for us, not good times. I have to say, we made a lot of money advertising to the undergraduates at most of the colleges in or near Boston. We called our operation the Ivy League Mixers and they became so popular that we sometimes had overflow crowds. We hired off-duty Boston policemen as security and seldom had any trouble as a result.

The February school vacation was getting close, and many of the colleges would be closed for that entire week. My partners and I had held one of our Friday night mixers at the Bradford Hotel calling it the St. Valentine's Day Massacre. Everyone had to come dressed in a 1920s costume. It was a sellout. I asked Dad if it was ok for me to head to Florida for the school vacation which was two weeks away. He had no trouble with me going off on my own, in spite of my age.

I told Babbononno that I was going to Florida for the week and he wanted to come along. Mom gave him an excuse saying that where I was going was only for college kids and he bought it. I hated to lie to him ... I think he was just lonely with Nanna gone. (She passed away near Christmas that previous year.)

Uncle Nick sent me to his travel planner at Colpitts Travel Service in Boston and the man tried to talk me into going to Fort Lauderdale, which was an in-place for the college crowd nationally during winter and spring break. I said no, I wanted to stay at the Fountainbleu Hotel on Miami Beach instead. I wanted to get a tan, not a hangover. This was one of the first times I was on my own as a young man, but handled it well, mainly because I knew how to handle the drinking situation, thanks to Babbononno, Dad, and Uncle Nick.

GOD BLESS AMERICA

STUFFED GREEN BELL PEPPERS

3 Bell Peppers cut length-wise (six halves) ¼ cup olive, canola or vegetable oil
3 cups cooked rice of choice* 3 cups prepared tomato sauce
1 pound ground beef Salt to taste
3 eggs
1 tablespoon grated Romano cheese (optional)

(*Approx. ½ cup cooked rice plus 1 ½ tablespoon of ground beef is used to stuff each half pepper.)

Preheat oven to 350°F.

Prepare rice of choice according to direction on the rice package. Set aside.

Cut each pepper in half lengthwise. Remove stem and seeds and wash thoroughly. Set aside and allow drying.

In a bowl, mix cooked rice and ground beef. Add two beaten eggs, salt and pepper to taste.

Optional: If preferred, ground beef can be lightly browned in skillet to remove excess fat prior to adding beef to the cooked rice.

Add grated cheese to bowl and mix thoroughly. With tablespoon, fill opening of each half pepper with the rice and beef mixture until all halves have been stuffed.

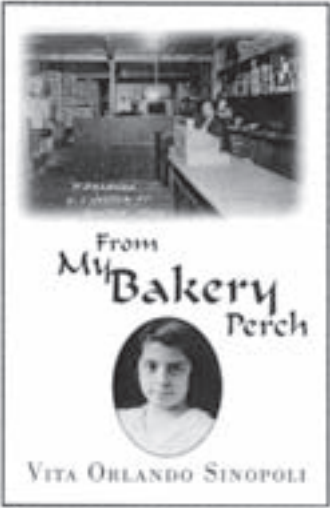

Beat one egg in a separate bowl. Use pastry brush to spread beaten egg over top of each stuffed pepper.

Heat oil in a skillet. Lower heat before carefully placing three half peppers (stuffing side down) into the skillet. Fry peppers until stuffing browns slowly. With spatula, turn each half pepper over gently.

Check frequently to avoid burning Continue frying remaining peppers in this manner

Line bottom baking tray or casserole dish with some prepared tomato sauce. Place fried peppers, (stuffing face up) in tray. With tablespoon, spread some tomato sauce over each stuffed pepper. (Optional: Sprinkle grated cheese over each pepper.) Cover and bake in a 350°F oven for about forty minutes. Remove cover and bake until tops brown lightly and peppers are fork tender. (Approx. ten to twenty additional minutes.)

NOTE: My sister-in-law Rose Sinopoli taught me this recipe many years ago. The stuffed Bell peppers became a popular food to have available for family gatherings. Today my children prepare them frequently in their own homes. Today these bell peppers are available in various colors and can also be stuffed using the above recipe.

Recently, some in the Fake News Media have questioned whether or not U.S. Rep. Devin Nunes, R-CA., might be a double agent for the Russians. This is totally an unhealthy accusation to make by anyone in the media. It smacks of the worst of the old McCarthyism of the 1950s when there were Russians hiding under our beds.

I want to know the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Our government officials represent us. They work for us, not the other way around.

So She Admits to Being a Hypocrite

Recently, Hillary Clinton was accused of being a supporter of someone back in her 2008 presidential run who had been accused of sexually harassing a female on the campaign staff. Clinton, against the advice of other staffers, did not can him. In fact, he was back in the 2016 campaign working for Clinton again on an outfit working with the campaign organization.

Last week she did damage control especially with the #MeToo efforts across the nation saying, “I very much understand the question I’m being asked as to why I let an employee on my 2008 campaign keep his job ... The short answer is this; If I had it to do again, I wouldn’t.”

That was her answer to the charges she covered up for an alleged sexual predator? Was that also supposed to be her apology for her lack of empathy for a victim of sexual harassment?

Once again I am glad I voted against Clinton in 2016.

Russia Elected Trump The Racist

It seems the above is all that Democrats have to run with in the upcoming mid-term elections. I don’t see Democrats taking back the House or Senate using this strategy. Listening to Nancy Pelosi even she is moving away from the immigration debate because the last thing the Democrats need to be is the Party of illegal immigration.

Not a winner in an election to me. She’s banging away at how bad the Tax Reform measure has been for the federal budget. Does she think that will sell either? Right now middle and working-class folk are seeing larger take home money in their paychecks and they like it.

The only thing the Democrats have going because of our strong and growing economy is the Russian thing and racism. I see Trump despite himself not losing during the mid-terms. The last thing America needs is Nancy Pelosi back at the Speaker’s podium pushing the Resistance, trying to impeach Trump and take back America for the elites in Washington and Hollywood.

End Quote

NOTE: PRE-BID CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD AT THE CAPITAL PROGRAMS DEPARTMENT (ABOVE ADDRESS) AT 10:00 AM LOCAL TIME ON THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 2018.

The work includes INSTALLATION OF NEW CONDUIT AND HANDHOLES; TYING INTO EXISTING HANDHOLES; TRENCHING AND HORIZONTAL DIRECTIONAL DRILLING NEW DUCTBANK; INSTALLATION OF NEW RUNWAY LIGHT BASE CANS WITH STEEL BLANK COVERS AND CONDUIT IN EXISTING PAVEMENT; BITUMINOUS PAVEMENT REPAIRS; REMOVAL OF RWSL EQUIPMENT IN EXISTING BASE CANS; AND TOPSOIL AND SEED.

Bid documents will be made available beginning WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 2018.

Bid Documents in electronic format may be obtained free of charge at the Authority's Capital Programs Department Office, together with any addenda or amendments, which the Authority may issue and a printed copy of the Proposal form.

The estimated contract cost is TWO MILLION, ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($2,100,000.00).

A proposal guaranty shall be submitted with each General Bid consisting of a bid deposit for five (5) percent of the value of the bid; when sub-bids are required, each must be accompanied by a deposit equal to five (5) percent of the sub-bid amount, in the form of a bid bond, or cash, or a certified check, or a treasurer's or a cashier's check issued by a responsible bank or trust company, payable to the Massachusetts Port Authority in the name of which the Contract for the work is to be executed. The bid deposit shall be (a) in a form satisfactory to the Authority, (b) with a surety company qualified to do business in the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Authority, and (c) conditioned upon the faithful performance by the principal of the agreements contained in the bid.

The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond and a labor and materials payment bond, each in an amount equal to 100% of the Contract price. The surety shall be a surety company or securities satisfactory to the Authority. Attention is called to the minimum rate of wages to be paid on the work as determined under the provisions of Chapter 149, Massachusetts General Laws, Section 26 to 27G, inclusive, as amended. The Contractor will be required to pay minimum wages in accordance with the schedules listed in Division II, Special Provisions of the Specifications, which wage rates have been predetermined by the U.S. Secretary of Labor and/or the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of Massachusetts, whichever is greater.

The successful Bidder will be required to purchase and maintain Bodily Injury Liability Insurance and Property Damage Liability Insurance for a combined single limit of $10,000,000.00. Said policy shall be on an occurrence basis and the Authority shall be included as an Additional Insured. See the insurance sections of Division I, General Requirements and Division II, Special Provisions for complete details.

This contract is subject to a Minority/Women Owned Business Enterprise participation provision requiring that not less than TWO AND NINE TENTHS PERCENT (2.9%) of the Contract be performed by minority and women owned business enterprise contractors. With respect to this provision, bidders are urged to familiarize themselves thoroughly with the Bidding Documents. Strict compliance with the pertinent procedures will be required for a bidder to be deemed responsive and eligible.

This Contract is also subject to Affirmative Action requirements of the Massachusetts Port Authority contained in Article 84 of the General Requirements and Covenants, and to the Secretary of Labor's Requirement for Affirmative Action to Ensure Equal Opportunity and the Standard Federal Equal Opportunity Construction Contract Specifications (Executive Order 11246).

The General Contractor is required to submit a Certification of Non-Segregated Facilities prior to award of the Contract, and to notify prospective sub-contractors of the requirement for such certification where the sub-contract exceeds $10,000.

Complete information and authorization to view the site may be obtained from the Capital Programs Department Office at the Massachusetts Port Authority. The right is reserved to waive any informality in or reject any or all proposals.

ber 22, 1975, when it stated, "YANKEES TAKE GAMBLE ON OSCAR." I remember his 1976 Topps baseball card with the bushy hair sticking out from under his cap. However, that was an older photo, since like all good Yankees long-hair was out, out, out. This is still part of the Yankees dress code to this day.

He came to the Yankees in 1976 in a trade from the Indians for Pat Dobson. That season he hit 17 homers in a 110 games as the Yankees reached the World Series for the first time since 1964. Following that season, he was part of a trade that brought Bucky Dent to New York from the White Sox.

With the White Sox in 1977, Gamble hit a career-high 31 home runs. Gamble returned to the Pinstripes in July of 1979. This time he was in the Bronx

The Boston Strong Boy Shed this Mortal Coil 100 Years Ago

February 2, 2018 marked the 100th anniversary of the death of the great John L. Sullivan. He died at his farm in North Abington, MA from heart failure at the age of 59.

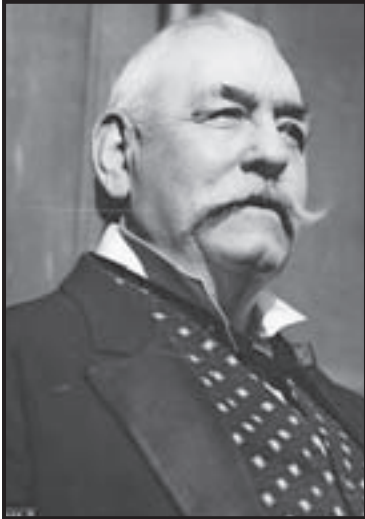

From the lack of any memorials to him or recognition from the Boston press and local organizations, it is hard to believe just what a superstar this son of Boston was just over 100 years ago. It can be easily argued he was Boston's most famous athlete. John L. has been recognized by historians as having been America's first true celebrity. His larger than life persona combined with his ability to "lick any man in the world!" made him a living legend. And, because of the recently completed Transcontinental Railway, Sullivan was the first public figure to been seen in person by a very large segment of the American public. Sullivan was also a much more complex man than most people realize. I will leave that discussion for a future column.

On the anniversary of his death I visited his gravesite at Mt. Calvary Cemetery in Roslindale, MA. He is buried with his wife and family members. His name is chiseled into the stone with no mention of his accomplishments. It states simply "John L. Sullivan, Died Feb. 2, 1918, age 59 years."

As I stood there reading those words I could feel his presence. There was not another soul around. No flowers, no commemoration. How could the Great John L. Sullivan who was laid to rest here 100 years ago have been forgotten by those in the city he made so proud? It's funny how Boston, a city steeped in history, can forget such a major figure. It's also sad. I can think of many others who have faded from the public memory. Of course, if John L. is now nothing more than a shadow why would any of the others be remembered?

Standing there alone with John I swear I heard his strong, confident voice along with his rich and hearty laughter. I wanted to reach out and shake the hand that shook the world. But most importantly, I wanted John L. Sullivan to know he hasn't been forgotten.

HOOPS and HOCKEY in the HUB

by Richard Preiss

It is a time of slumber for many outdoor activities, but inside it is anything but hibernation. Within the hospitable confines of the Garden both the Bruins and Celtics are doing well as they position themselves favorably for the playoffs that are as sure to come as the first warm winds of spring.

Things may not have gone well for the Patriots in Minneapolis but back on Causeway Street, the Celtics found a way to create their own memorable moment as Al Horford hit a 20-footer to give the Green a 97-96 victory over Portland at the Garden.

Horford made his shot literally as time ran out, thus negating the possibility of a comeback attempt by Portland. He was swarmed by his teammates in the immediate aftermath of the victorious hoop as they burst forth onto the court, smiling and cheering as if they had just won a high school state championship.

If this was supposed to be an undercard for the main event of Super Bowl Sunday then it certainly more than made up for its supposed secondary position, sending the Celtics faithful home happy, but later left to ponder the football fate of the Pats as the night wore on.

Once thought of a team that probably would not get by Cleveland in the NBA Eastern Conference Finals this coming spring, the C's now seem to be the royalty of the realm as the Cavaliers continue to grapple with hard times.

Cleveland has suffered a string of one-sided losses in recent weeks, including a 116-98 setback at the hands of the Orlando Magic on February 7th, a contest that saw the Cavs blow a 21-point lead. The defeat gave Cleveland a lowly 6-13 record over a 19-game span since Christmas and put its first place lead in the Central Division in jeopardy with both Milwaukee and Indiana now challenging for the top spot. That's something that would have seemed unthinkable back in the opening weeks of the season.

Superstar LeBron James isn't going anywhere but as the NBA's February 8th trade deadline neared, speculation was rife that the Cavs were willing to trade other players.

Meanwhile, the Celtics continued to ride high, although a loss to Toronto narrowed the lead of the Green and White to a single game in the Atlantic Division. Still, the Celtics continued to own the best record in the entire Eastern Conference and stood third-best overall in the NBA behind only Houston and Golden State.

Meanwhile, the Bruins continue their winning ways, moving to within three points of Atlantic Division pacesetter (and Eastern Conference leader) Tampa Bay with a 3-2 victory over Detroit on February 6th.

The win continued the Bruins' hot streak, with only one setback in regulation time over a lengthy 22-game span (17-1-4). The B's trailed only Toronto, Winnipeg, and Western Conference leader Vegas in points with 72.

But the most important stat may well have to do with goaltending. Through 51 games played the Black and Gold had allowed the fewest goals of any of the 31 NHL teams thus far this season — a stingy 121.

That comes about because both Bruins goalies — starter Tuukka Rask and backup Anton Khudobin — are ranked in the top 10 in the league in fewest goals allowed. Rask ranks third in the league with a 2.09 goals against average while Khudobin is eighth at 2.36.

Earlier in the season, one could tell there was somewhat of a concern whenever Khudobin spelled Rask for a game. By the same token, Rask had a brief span where he himself was a bit rocky.

No longer. Both are on track with perhaps Khudobin playing a bit over his head. And both have been buoyed by an increased scoring production on the part of their teammates.

The B's were tied for fourth in the Eastern Conference with Pittsburgh in total goals scored through games as of February 6th. They were tied for seventh in the entire NHL.

So, there's a lot to like about both the B's and the C's as they begin to turn the corner and head for home in the final two months of their respective regular seasons. Both will be playing in the spring and expectations will be high.
